Course Description:

This course uses women as a lens to better understand the history of the United States from the pre-colonial era through 1877. Topics covered include Anglo-Indian encounters, slavery, the Revolutionary War, colonial settlement, the Civil War, and Reconstruction as well as themes more specific to women and gender, including issues related to families, households, violence, and rights. Course lectures and readings survey perspectives and experiences of women from different backgrounds as well as professional scholarship particular to the study of women’s history.

In this class, students will apply analytic reading and writing skills. “Close reading” and “active reading” of primary and secondary sources will be modeled and practiced. Guided and unguided writing assignments will help students to organize their ideas and formulate arguments about class readings and topics covered in the course.

Course Requirements:

1) Attendance, careful reading of assigned texts by date indicated on syllabus, and participation in class discussions/activities. You are required to bring the assigned readings with you to class to facilitate class discussion.

2) Midterm exam held on Tuesday, October 25 and final exam TBA.

3) Paper 1 due on Tuesday, September 27 and Paper 2 due on Tuesday, November 22. Papers must be posted on Blackboard BEFORE class on the due date.

4) Journal/Notes: You are required to complete regular journal entries and notes related to the course readings and will expected to post these assignments on Blackboard. These assignments are designed to give you a chance to respond to the primary and secondary source readings, help you study for the exams, and will be used to facilitate class discussions. “Journal entry” assignments may take various forms, and some will be guided (you will be asked to respond to a specific question/prompt) and others will be free form. Assignments may include writing a few paragraphs, listing key words/phrases, creating open-ended questions, etc.. All assignments will be graded with a check, check minus, and check plus. Specifics regarding these assignments will be posted on the Blackboard website.

Journal/Notes: As mentioned above, journal entries/notes will be graded with a check (if the entry is completed), a check plus (if the entry is particularly well done), or a check minus (if the entry is barely passable). Extraordinarily good journals/assignments (many check-pluses) will raise your course grade by half a grade (from “B” to “B+,” for example). Barely passable journals/notes (many check-minuses) will lower your course grade by half a grade (from “B” to “C+,” for example). Seriously incomplete journals/notes will lower your final grade by ONE FULL GRADE (from “B” to “C,” for example).

Attendance/Tardiness:
Attendance is required and you are expected to sign in each class. Class will begin on time. Habitual lateness is not acceptable and will be penalized. Do not take the course if you are unable to get to class on time. There will be no make-up opportunities for missed classes.

Excused vs. Unexcused Absences: The Rutgers-Newark Undergraduate Catalog (http://catalogs.rutgers.edu/generated/nwk-ug_0608/pg23613.html) states: “The recognized grounds for absence are illness requiring medical attention, curricular or extracurricular activities approved by the faculty, personal obligations claimed by the student and recognized as valid, recognized religious holidays, and severe inclement weather causing dangerous traveling conditions.” If you plan to claim a religious holiday as an excused absence, you must inform me of this fact within the first two weeks of class.

Tardiness and Grade Penalties: Lateness of twenty minutes or more counts as a half-absence and puts a student at risk of grade penalties (discussed below). Any student who is habitually late for class (five or more times over the course of the semester)—even if the student arrived within twenty minutes after the start of class—will receive a half grade reduction (from a “B” to “C+,” for example).

Attendance and Grade Penalties: Any student who misses four classes will receive a half grade reduction (from “B” to “C+,” for example). Any student who misses six classes will receive a full grade reduction (from “B” to “C,” for example). Any student who misses eight or more sessions through any combination of excused and unexcused absences will not earn credit in this class. Such students should withdraw to avoid getting an F.

Late writing assignments:
Writing Assignments: Papers must be posted to Blackboard prior to the beginning of class on the dates indicated on the syllabus. For every class day that a paper is not turned in, the paper will lose a half grade reduction (from “B” to “C+,” for example). If posted late on the due date (after class has begun), the paper will lose a half-grade reduction (from “B” to “C+,” for example).

Journals/Notes: Late journals/notes will not be accepted. One of the main purposes of the regular journals/notes is to give students a chance to reflect on and engage with the readings, ultimately preparing them for class. As indicated above, several missing journal entries can significantly bring down the final grade.

Technology and Class Environment:
Use of technology for personal use (texting, social media, etc.) during class time is prohibited. Breaking this code of conduct will result in penalties, including dismissal from class and grade reductions (pertaining to class participation).

Members of the class are expected to create a “safe” learning space by speaking, listening, and engaging with one another in a respectful manner. It is important to both be present—demonstrate that you are engaged in the class—and to consider others’ opinions and ideas regardless of whether they complement or challenge your own. Many of the topics are sensitive (i.e. violence, abortion), and it is important both to respect your own limits as a scholar as well as those of others.

Disabilities:
Students with disabilities, including learning disabilities, requiring assistance and/or accommodation should speak with Disability Services in a timely manner to set up appropriate accommodations.

Policy on Academic Integrity (Cheating and Plagiarism):
Rutgers University treats cheating and plagiarism as serious offenses. Cheating is both a moral and ethical offense. It violates your own integrity and the ethics of group commitment: when you cut corners and cheat, you undermine those students who took the time to work on the assignment honestly. As a standard minimum penalty, students who are suspected of cheating or plagiarism are reported to the Office of Academic Integrity. Pending investigation, further penalties can include failure of the course, disciplinary probation, and a formal warning that further cheating will be grounds for expulsion from the University.

All students are required to sign the Rutgers Honor Code Pledge. To receive credit, every assignment must have your signature under the following phrase: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received any unauthorized assistance on this examination/assignment.”

Course Readings:
The following book is required for the course. It is available at the Rutgers University Book Store. It is also on two-hour reserve at Dana Library.

Required Book: Sue Monk Kidd, The Invention of Wings.
ISBN 978-0-14-312170-1
The rest of the required readings can be accessed via Blackboard (blackboard.newark.rugters.edu) and are indicated in the syllabus below as “BB.”
