Class Time and Location: Monday 2:30-3:50 pm, Wednesday 1:00-2:20 pm, Hill 102

This course will explore the narratives of America from the first contacts between native North Americans and Europeans to Reconstruction. It will focus on the stories Americans told of themselves and of “The Other,” and how they converged in the construction of an American nation and identity. In discussing how these narratives intersect, interact and sometimes contradict each other, we will discover the richness and complexities of American life.

We will focus on a number of themes: Race and slavery; the family, gender and sexuality; class, economic growth and the rise of market capitalism; and, above all the negotiation of the idea of “America” in the spaces around geographical, conceptual and cultural frontiers.

Students will develop their analytical skills in the written assignments and the class discussions by identifying the course readings’ main theses, supporting arguments, evidence, assumptions, and rhetorical strategies.

READINGS

All class readings are available on Blackboard. Thomas Paine’s Common Sense and Frederick Douglass’s Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, an American Slave are available at the library, at virtually every bookstore and online as a PDF or e-book.

ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING

Attendance: Attendance is mandatory. Students are expected to attend every class, arrive on time and stay for the duration of the class. Students may be excused for illness, family emergency and similar extreme situations, and religious observance. Absences for work, job interviews and similar events will not be excused. Unexcused absences will be penalized one (1) mark (out of ten) of the student’s attendance grade.

Six unexcused absences will result in an automatic failing grade. Students who miss eight or more sessions through any combination of excused and unexcused absences will not earn credit in this class. Such students should withdraw from the course.

Participation: Everyone is both expected and required to participate in class discussions. The participation grade will reflect the quality and quantity of your in-class participation.

Summaries: Students will write a one-to-two-page summary of the readings for every class, identifying the main points that each author makes and the way in which the readings are related. I will collect them at random times throughout the term.

Papers: Students will write three 3-4 page papers on topics to be announced, based on the readings.

See “Submission Guidelines,” below.

In-Class Tests: There will be five in-class tests.

Final Exam: A final exam will be held on...
Students must write the final exam and submit all short papers to pass the course.

CITATION FAQ

What do you need to cite?

Any phrase, sentence or paragraph that you have taken from another source, even if it’s a sentence fragment. For example, if you use the phrase “to be or not to be: that is the question,” you must provide a citation to the relevant page in a published edition of William Shakespeare’s play Hamlet. As a general rule, if you are using words that someone else wrote, you must cite. Failure to do so constitutes plagiarism.

Any information that you found in another source (and isn’t common knowledge), even if you paraphrase. For example, if you write something like “almost ten per cent of the adult males in the United States in 1924 were members of the Ku Klux Klan,” you have to say where you got that information. If you don’t, how do I know that you’re not making it up?

As a general rule, you don’t have to provide citations for information that we covered in class.

What happens if you don’t cite?

It depends. The highest grade that a term paper without citations will receive is C+. If you quote substantially from another source and do not (a) indicate that it is a quote and (b) indicate where the quote came from, I will consider this plagiarism. You will receive a zero (0) on the paper and I will submit it to the Dean's office for review.

If you don’t know whether you should cite a passage, quote or information, err on the side of caution and cite it.

What do you need?

As a general rule, you will need a bibliography page, and footnotes or parenthetical notes in text for all of your references. Please use either the University of Chicago/Turabian citation style or follow the basic citation guide on the next page.

SUBMISSION POLICY

All assignments must be submitted in hard copy and to Turnitin on Blackboard by the deadline at the beginning of class. Assignments that are not submitted to Turnitin will not receive credit. No assignments will be accepted after the deadline, except with prior arrangement. If you miss a class – and a deadline – due to illness or other excused absence, you must inform me, and submit the assignment to Turnitin (to be followed with hard copy at the earliest opportunity).

Assignments must be typed double-spaced in 12-point Times on white paper, stapled or bound in a cover. Handwritten submissions will not be accepted.

All students are required to sign the Rutgers Honor Code Pledge. To receive credit, every assignment must have your signature under the following phrase: “On my honor, I have neither received nor given any unauthorized assistance on this examination / assignment.”

PRIMARY AND SECONDARY SOURCES

Historians refer to primary and secondary sources. A primary source is a document, speech, or other sort of evidence written, created or otherwise produced during the time under study, or by a participant. Primary sources offer an inside view of a particular event. Secondary sources provide interpretation and analysis of primary sources. Secondary sources are usually (though not always) written by professional historians and are one step removed from the original event.
